SUBJECT:

Development of CIA Strategic Plan, 1983-1993

REFERENCE:

Memo from EXDIR, dated 31 August 1983,

Subject: Development of CIA Strategic Plan,

1983-1993

- 1. The planning cycle for the CIA Strategic Plan, 1983-1993, has begun. You have received an information copy of the referenced document. This year's planning cycle will be shorter than last year's and will focus on changes or adjustments to the 1982-1992 Strategic Plan.
- 2. This Directorate has been tasked to determine the impact on support capabilities of collection, processing, and analysis initiatives proposed to meet newly defined issues. We have also been asked to participate on interdirectorate teams which will identify changes in worldwide trends and information needs, changes in covert action goals and counterintelligence threats, changes in future collection and processing systems, and changes in research and development alternatives. We will not ask each Office to name representatives to the interdirectorate teams. However, I have asked of my staff to contact specific Office Directors to name participants for the interdirectorate teams. For the Phase IV Support Capabilities, we will form a Directorate team of the officers named to support our own planning cycle.
